WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 21, 1914.

An Evening Echo.
True modesty does not consist in an ignorance of our merits, but in a due estimate of them; modesty, then, is only another name for self knowledge; that is, for the absence of ignorance on the one subject which we ought to understand the best, as well from its vast importance as from our continual opportunities of studying it; and yet it is a virtue.—J. C. HARE.

Shame on you, too, Grafton Sentinel and Morgantown Post-Chronicle, for engaging in the business of promoting death by advertising poisons.
Anyway, what is a paltry million dollar deficit in the revenues of a mighty state like West Virginia? It would be but temporary. If the Democrats had the state administration, it would be more than that anyway.

There is no need for a special session of the state legislature. Editor Snyder, of the Shepherdstown Register, figures it out that the coming transition to prohibition will not cause deficits in the revenues of the state, counties and municipalities.

Richard Bennett, a leading actor in "Damaged Goods," lost a five hundred dollar fur coat at the West Side Young Men's Christian Association in New York City when he spoke on "Morality." Apparently his presentation of the subject did not make a very deep impression.

There is almost as much vindication of the Democratic currency bill in the fact that many national banks are availing themselves of some of its provisions as there would be for a city administration in the fact that those who opposed it had to pay their taxes.

Alarmed over the rapid growth of the rapidly growing cities of the state, the Wheeling Register suggests that its city may have to annex Warwood, half a dozen towns along the national road and possibly Benwood and McMechen. This is exactly what Wheeling will be forced to do in order to retain its title as the first city when the boundary extension notion strikes Clarksburg.

An editor in the southern part of the state very correctly declares that the reason so many young men are leaving West Virginia for the greater agricultural opportunities to be found in the West, is bad roads. He says there are equal opportunities in agriculture in this state with good roads but that without good roads it can be everything but an agricultural state. It is high time to stop the stream of emigration.

The Huntington Herald-Dispatch says that it was inevitable the essential Paul Revere should ride ahead of the Stony river flood, warning the people to flee, and that it is funny he was not discovered until the day after the dam burst. There is nothing odd about the occurrence, however, considering that the report of the Stony river Revere came out of Cumberland, Md. Besides, who ever heard of a dam's bursting without a Paul Revere riding ahead of it?

It Could Help.
The anti-suicide bureau of the Salvation Army in Chicago is reported to have dissuaded more than one hundred would-be suicides from their purpose in the three months of its existence. That is a rare record of reclamation work, assuming the entire accuracy of the figures. If much can be done in a limited field in a short time, great results ought to be possible by accomplishment through organized efforts to prevent suicide throughout the country.—Morgantown New Dominion.
The New Dominion could help along the cause by joining the ranks of the newspapers that refuse to advertise poisons when reporting suicides.

Will Not Prohibit.
Before the prohibition amendment to the state constitution was ratified, there was contention that the amendment would not make West Virginia "dry." The friends of the amendment, and it had nearly one hundred thousand of them in the voting ranks as shown by the election results, contended that prohibition would prohibit. Now, comes such an eminent authority as the state chairman of the Prohibition party. He says the state will not be dry after July 1, when the amendment becomes effective in its operation, according to law. Commenting on the declaration of the Prohibition state chairman, the Wheeling Register says: The Mountain State Patriot, published at Parsons, W. Va., by J. W. Bedford, chairman of the state executive committee of the Prohibition party, does not appear to take a very optimistic view of the prospect of eliminating the liquor traffic from West Virginia after June 30 next. The editor says "the liquor traffic in the nation will still live to ship liquors into the state, and he frankly declares that 'there can be no dry spot in the nation until Uncle Sam gets out of the business.'"

The experience of every state in the union which had adopted prohibitory laws bears out the view taken by the state chairman of the Prohibition party of (West Virginia). Prohibition does not prohibit. It will not prohibit "until Uncle Sam gets out of the business." That being true, why do the reformers not work upon Congress, instead of wasting their time, money and energies in a futile effort to make states and smaller communities legally, but not actually "dry"?

The folly of trying to make prohibition prohibit will deprive this state of hundreds of thousands of dollars of revenue annually. It will cause the biggest item in the deficit of $1,000,000 in the year beginning July 1 next, which will have to be made up in other forms of taxation. A million dollars is a big price to make the people of West Virginia present an experiment which has failed everywhere else, and which the chairman of the Prohibition party declares will fail in this state also.

New Red Cross Activities.
As a great humane and patriotic institution, devoted to the mitigation of suffering for the sake of humanity and the upbuilding of a strong and vigorous people, the American Red Cross, through its nursing service, is carrying out to the homes of the people such simple instruction in hygiene and home care of the sick as will aid in the improvement of living conditions and the prevention of illness, and make it possible for women to render intelligently such care to the sick in their own homes as may safely be entrusted to them.

To encourage the employment of visiting nurses, not only in small cities and towns, but in the vast stretches of country where the services of a physician are difficult to obtain and where trained nurses are now unknown, a town and county nursing service has recently been established through cooperation with local communities that the dwellers in all sections of the country, even the most isolated, may eventually be assured proper nursing care in case of serious illness.

To Miss Jane A. Defano, the chairman of the national committee on nursing service, through whose instrumentalities the nursing work of the Red Cross has been brought to its present high plane, the Red Cross gold medal of merit has been awarded by the president.

Miss Mabel T. Boardman, the active head of the Red Cross, in presenting Miss Delano to President Woodrow Wilson, said:

"In token of its great appreciation of her services to the American Red Cross, the general board has awarded to Miss Jane A. Delano the Red Cross gold medal of merit. It is due to Miss Delano's devoted and efficient labors that a splendid corps of over 4,000 of the best trained nurses in this country have been enrolled in time of war or disaster. Not only has this large corps been enrolled, but by means of 110 local committees a system has been established that enables the Red Cross to mobilize within a few hours' time anywhere in this country the number of nurses required for active service. It is to Miss Delano and the patriotic interest she has aroused in our American nurses that the Red Cross owes this most excellent organization. The people of the United States may well be grateful for the unremunerated and efficient work of this devoted woman."

WHAT OTHER EDITORS SAY

Would Feel Better.
Though 1914 began auspiciously in many respects, it would feel better if Huerta were not clinging to his back—Elkins Inter-Mountain.

Takes a Dollar Nowadays.
The treasury department says the fifty cent piece has lost its popularity. The reason is obvious: it takes a dollar to buy anything nowadays.—Wheeling Register.

The Dictator's Will.
The Democratic Congress wants to quit sometime not later than the first Monday in next December but it is doubtful about Big Boss Wilson's letting it do so.—Parkersburg State Journal.

Some Improvement.
Booker T. Washington has found a gratifying improvement in the lynching methods of the South. Two negroes who were lynched near Tampa, Fla., were given time to say grace before they were dispatched.—Wheeling Telegraph.

Painful Duty.
Of course, if Senor Huerta can't keep up his interest payments, the constable of the Western Hemisphere must do his painful duty.—Huntington Advertiser.

Great Public Interest.
The engineering post-mortem on the remains of the Stony River dam will be a matter of the greatest public interest in view of the application of so many companies for permits to construct power dams in West Virginia river gorges.—Morgantown Post-Chronicle.

Too Bad.
There is something almost magnificent in the courage of men like Ralph Lopez and Edward Beardsley. It is too bad that this strong characteristic in two strong men has been so fearfully misdirected. Showing themselves such forces in fighting organized society what forces they could be if they battled with the current instead of against it.—Parkersburg Dispatch-News.

Step to the Front.
Jacob Riis is out in an open and unabridged statement in which he announces that Roosevelt will accept the Republican nomination for the presidency, if offered. The gentleman with a carefully prepared and scrupulously edited nominating speech concealed on his person, will please step to the front of the platform.—Huntington Herald-Dispatch.

A Vague Need.
As an abstract proposition the requirements of the West Virginia constitution that all property shall be assessed for taxation at "equal and uniform rates" seems entirely fair and just. As the practical basis for the elaboration of a reasonably equitable and successful revenue system, this constitutional principle is a flat failure. There is nothing West Virginia needs more urgently in the way of legislation than repeal of the provision of our fundamental law by the adoption of a constitutional amendment permitting the intelligent classification of property for purposes of taxation.—Morgantown Post-Chronicle.

SAVINGS OF A NUT

When he dies, if he ever does Huerta should be given a memorial window in the Peace Palace at the Hague (?).

An English nobleman is to marry an American girl, who is heirless to only $1,000,000. The times sure must be hard.

Why doesn't Mr. Bryan settle his affair with Champ Clark in the prize ring and let Jack Johnson referee the bout. An attraction of this kind would beat the chautauqua thirty ways as a money-getter.

The cost of living is like a balloon and the Democratic tariff bill has failed to cut the rope that holds the parachute. Instead the hot air from the supporters of the bill has inflated the balloon and caused it to soar higher.

GOES TO EUROPE

Judge Kellar, One of the State's Federal Judges, Will Visit Foreign Lands.

CHARLESTON, Jan. 21.—Judge Benjamin F. Kellar, of the United States district court, accompanied by Mrs. Kellar and Miss Fairchild, will sail from New York February 2 for Europe, where they will sojourn about three months. They will leave Charleston the latter part of the month. The party will visit the Mediterranean coast and other territory across the Atlantic.

On account of the extended trip Judge Kellar has postponed the April term of federal court, to be held at Huntington, ten days from April 7, as originally set, to April 17.

OAKLAND

Team Snowed under by the Scholastics in One Sided Game, Score 109 to 18.

In a one-sided game of basketball played in Hoffman Hall last evening the Scholastics defeated the much touted Oakland team by a score of 109 to 18. Only a small crowd witnessed the game as the weather conditions were very unfavorable.

The game last evening was a very tame affair, the most of the game being taken up by fouls, as they were at least twenty-five called during the game. The Oakland team showed bursts of speed and good playing but were unable to cope with the fast team work of the locals.

The local team had an inclination last evening to play individual ball and if this continues on the local team its record for the present season will not be as brilliant as one as it was last season. In more than a dozen cases last evening a man would be unguarded under a basket and a man would try and make a long shot for a basket rather than to let his fellow team mate have a sure shot from under the basket. Individual playing will break up any team and the Scholastic team as a team is doomed if the individuality is not stopped.

Bradford, a new man for the Scholastics showed up well in the second half of the game last evening in center, out jumping his opponent at all stages of the game and caging nine field goals.

The line up:
Clarksburg Position Oakland
Rigby F Sanner
Osborne F Frantz
Williams C M. Boyle
McAndrews C J. Boyle
Garrett G
Substitutes—Bradford for Williams, Williams for McAndrews, Marks for Garrett, and Jones for Sanner.

Goals from field—Rigby 20; Osborne 19; Williams 9; Garrett 2; Bradford 9; Boyle 5; Boyle 2.

Goals from foul—Sincer 4; Rigby 3.

Referee—Williams.

Timekeepers—Helbig of Oakland and Arnett of Clarksburg.

Scorers—Fraley, of Oakland, and Nutter of Clarksburg.

FOREST NOTES

There are 36,500,000 young trees in the government's forest nurseries. Two tons of cascara bark have just been sold from the Siuslaw national forest, Oregon, at one cent a pound. The common national pine, the Chugach in Alaska, the southernmost is the Quillu in Porto Rico.

For shingles alone, 750 million feet of timber is cut in that part of the state of Washington which lies west of the Cascades. Last year in timber sold from national forests, though Montana had the largest number of sale transactions.

The American forestry association has just elected Henry S. Drinker, president of Lehigh university, and P. S. Henshaw, its president and secretary respectively.

The biological survey and the forest service have been co-operating in the extermination of ground squirrels on national forests in California. The annual loss of range feed and grain crops from ground squirrels is enormous.

See That You Get Your Share

Mr. Merchant!

Now, Mr. Local Dealer, here is some straight talk.

This is the month in which many manufacturers are laying out their advertising plans for the coming year.

These plans naturally have for their object an increase of business. The manufacturer is going to spend his money where it is going to give him the best return.

One thing that will influence his plans is the extent to which dealers will co-operate does not mean sitting down and letting customers come, if they are willing. It means actively pushing the sale of goods advertised in their local newspapers by the manufacturers.

Now, why not let the manufacturers with whom you do business know that if they will help make business for you, you will help make business for them.

Tell them that if they will use the newspapers of your town to make known the merit of their goods you will let the public know that these goods can be had at your store.

Co-operate—and let your manufacturers know you are willing to do so. Share in the dollar harvest by acting now, when it is time to sow the seed.

To these will be added an instructor in the principles and methods of teaching reading (this instructor will probably be the elementary supervisor of the Ethical Culture school, New York), and an experienced instructor in manual training for schools.

The summer school will begin June 22 and last until August 22, though some of the courses will run through the first six weeks only. Among the new courses offered will be composition in the grades and the country schools; how to teach reading in the various grades, and professional work in manual training.

In addition to regular class room instruction, arrangements have been made for a service of attractive lectures, notable among them being a course of ten illustrated lectures on bird and animal life.

Last summer there were students present from every county in West Virginia with the exception of three—a total of about 500 in all.

STOP CATARRH
Unless properly treated this disease often leads to a serious if not fatal ailment. It is needless to allow catarrh to ruin your health—use Hyomei—it is certainly effective relief for catarrh of the nose, throat and lungs. It's the direct-to-the-spot treatment. You breathe it—no stomach dosing. No household should be without Hyomei. It not only gives quick and lasting benefit in cases of catarrh but is one of the surest and most pleasant treatments for head colds, sniffles, or croup of children. Hyomei is a combination of antiseptic oils—you breathe it—using a small inhaler. The air laden with health-restoring Hyomei soothes, heals and vitalizes the sore, raw and inflamed membrane of the breathing organs almost immediately. There is no other remedy that benefits so surely or so quickly. Money refunded by Wells-Haymaker Co. if you are not satisfied. Do not be without Hyomei another day. Druggists everywhere sell it. Get the complete outfit—$1.00 also—this contains the inhaler and bottle of liquid.—Advertisement.
